

School District Asks OK On Millage Renewal

ROMULUS—One of the most important millage elections in the history of Romulus Community School District will be held April 6.

School administrators report that approving the nine mills will not increase the operating tax levy for the next school year.

school district is asking voters to approve a $11 million dollar bond issue for building programs (present and future) of the school district.

maintained, Robert L. McConeghy stated.

The proposed bond issue will be used to finance the construction of a "urgently needed" building program. The bond issue is the biggest in school history due to a large extent to the tremendous rise in building costs.

Residents do not have to be property owners to vote on the two propositions, although property owners and non-property owners will be voting on different machines, McConeghy said.

On the bond issue, McConeghy added that the mill levy to be assessed to pay off the bonds would be determined by the amount of the bond issue required during any one year.

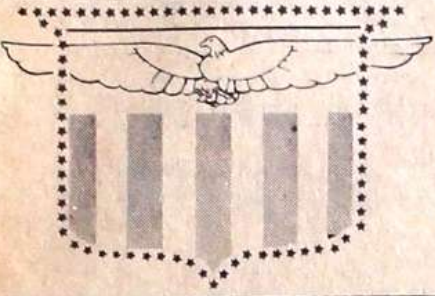

Total school millage levied in the 1969-70 school year was 31.6 mills per $1,000 assessed property valuation, state equalized. This total levy includes 26.6 mills for school operation and five mills for debt retirement.

The 26.6 mills assessed for school operations includes the nine mills that the school district wants renewed.

The expiration of the nine mills brings operational millage down to 17.6 mills.

A YES vote by the school district's electorate on the nine mills renewal would bring it back to the 26.6 mills thus no increase in this portion of the total millage.

Romulus Homeowners Set Open Forum

ROMULUS—An Open Forum under the sponsorship of the Romulus Homeowners Association will be held Thursday (March 26) at the Romulus Senior High at 7:30 p.m.

The Open Forum will deal with "Romulus—Present and Future."

Invitations have been sent to all elected Township and School Board officials.

Officials of the association felt that the Open Forum would be most timely and informative because of the forthcoming School Bond and Millage Renewal Election, the Annual Township Meeting and the May 7 Charter Election.

How much "more" must residents have to earn just to continue "living" in Romulus???

What advantages can Romulus property owners look forward to, in return for their rapidly climbing taxes???

What is Romulus' share of the $100 Million State Bond Issue for Parks and Recreation???

How much of our Township is UNTAXABLE, County or State owned land???

What is our position on the proposed Spencer-Ryan Plan? How would it affect our own school millage?

"We strongly feel that you and the others in positions of responsibility in the township, are not only capable of presenting the actual facts, but you will be eager and genuinely interested in answering these and other questions of the people of our community," was the invitational statement.

ROMULUS—Formation of a citizens group to promote interest and participation in Romulus' scheduled May 7 special City Charter election has been announced this week along with a special township voters that registration deadline is this Saturday.

Acting as chairman for the citizens' group is Ron Hopson, long time Romulus area resident and businessman.

The proposed city charter was approved by Romulus' nine member Chapter Commission March 4, by a vote of 6 to 2 with one member absent. Voters are being asked to approve in a Special Action May 7.

An attack on the proposed charter made a week ago by two members of the charter commission, (Terry L. Trout and Jesse L. Tyron) who objected to various sections of the charter brought sharp rebuttal from other members of the commission after they held an informal session BELEVILLE—Michigan Senate's Taxation Commission has released on the floor of the state senate bill No 230 that if approved and adopted would reduce property taxes, Mayor Royce E. Smith disclosed Monday.

The bill now up for debate would reduce the state equalization of property to 45 percent of its market value instead of the present 50 per cent now applied by state and county taxing authorities in arriving at the state equalization shourtly after the Trout-Tyron volley against the charter.

Felix F. Rogalle, chairman of the charter commission, stated in replying to the two objecting members:

On Nov. 5, 1968, the citizens of Romulus voted first to be a city and secondly elected a charter commission to prepare for their consideration a charter for governing of this city.

The charter is presently in Governor Milliken's office for approval. As soon as the charter is returned from Lansing, the document will be printed and distributed among the voters.

During the past 18 months, the commission has held over 75 meetings. All the meetings were opened to the public and publicized before each meeting. The commission heard testimony and comments from mayors and other administration officials from surrounding communities concerning city government.

Referendum Plea Filed

ROMULUS—Petitions requesting a referendum election on Romulus' new zoning ordinance were filed Monday afternoon with Alfred J. Perry, township clerk.

The zoning ordinance was approved in a joint hearing of the township board and the township planning commission on Feb. 26, and after a public hearing on the ordinance.

The petitions, containing 1,449 signatures of property owners, were filed by a group of residents that are protesting a mobile home park classification given to an area near their homes by the new zoning laws.

The petition were presented to Perry by Mrs. Florence Allen, of 28684 Beverly Rd.

REV. ROBERT MACDONALD

"The Palm Sunday Event"

Most of us get in the habit of seeing a familiar skyline or horizon as we drive our cars on our regular routes. We are comfortable with this familiar view, and often we find ourselves taking it for granted. Then a building project begins. It may be an apartment complex, or a shopping center, or a factory. It begins to affect our viewpoint, our horizon, as the construction develops.

We begin to think of the changes it will make in the neighborhood and the traffic flow. We are not sure that we want the changes to occur.

But there seems to be an inevitability about change. It occurs in spite of our reluctance to experience change. People continue to need homes and apartments in which to live, they need shopping centers. Businesses and industries need offices and factories. There is a constant pressure for growth and change. Our horizons get changed year by year with new construction.

In addition to these outer horizons, each of us has what we might call an inner horizon or inner skyline which is familiar to us. This inner horizon is what gives our lives their direction.

Psalms spoke of this inner reality in the 121st Psalm when he wrote, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills; from whence cometh my help? My help cometh even from the Lord, who hath made heaven and earth."

History and the Bible have shown us that man tends to become static and rigid in his religion. Man tends to take God and other men for granted.

The Old Testament records again and again how God sent his prophets to shake up the people, to widen their horizons, to lift their vision. But the people kept resisting the prophets.

Finally, God sent his own Son. The Palm Sunday event, as recorded in the Gospels, can be understood

Judge Stone Writes of Marihuana Dangers

(Editor's Note: The following submitted by District Judge James B. Stone of the 34th District Court (Romulus) is the second of a series of articles on the problems of narcotics which has been in the forefront of current news reports.)

In the first of this series of articles I very briefly described the legal penalties associated with the possession, sale and use of narcotics.

To rely upon the courts to solve the narcotics problem is a losing battle. It has been proven time after time that the severity of the legal punishment does nothing to combat the traffic in illicit drugs just as Prohibition failed to stop the consumption of alcoholic beverages.

The narcotics business, like any other business, depends upon two factors to survive. First, there must be a market for the product; second, there must be a source of supply.

The unhappy, maladjusted, thrill-seekers among us provide the market and the extremely high profits of the seller, "pusher," insure that the market will be supplied.

As a starting point, I would like to introduce you to one of the "soft" drugs, marihuana, also known as "hay," "pot," "grass," "tea" or "weed."

Marihuana is the Mexican name for the plant that is scientifically known as Cannabis Sativa (Latin). It grows wild in most of the United States, Mexico and Canada in the form of a shrub-like bush or plant that may attain the height of 20 feet.

In Michigan it rarely grows over 12 feet but may be much shorter depending on the soil, moisture and other conditions.

The top leaves, the tops of the stalks and the flowers contain the active part of the plants that when smoked cause the exotic feeling that the users are attempting to obtain.

Each leaf of the plant has an odd number of leaflets, usually from 5 to 13 in number. These leaflets are long and slender, pointed at both ends and have a serrated or saw-toothed edge. When the tops of the plants are picked and dried, they are then processed by removing the stems and the seeds.

Although there are several methods that a person can use to get the intoxicating effect of marihuana, the most common in Michigan is smoking, usually in cigarette form. This cigarette is hand rolled with two thicknesses of cigarette paper and is shorter and slimmer than a commercial cigarette with the ends twisted or crimped to keep the marihuana from falling out.

Persons who smoke marihuana prefer to smoke in the company of others and will object to the presence of nonsmokers unless they are willing to try it.

Since the price of a cigarette in Michigan is from 75 cents to $1.50, when the marihuana is smoked it is handed from person to person to take a puff to minimize the waste. While smoking it the users sometimes make a noise which is caused by sucking air in with the smoke much like the noise caused by drinking a hot liquid and attempting to cool it while slurping it. An odor of burning weeds or alfalfa may be detected on the breath or the clothes of the person who has been smoking for several hours.

Marihuana may be sniffed, ingested or smoked; it is most commonly smoked here.

Although the drug's effects vary among individuals, marihuana ordinarily produces a state of intoxication with its accompanying symptoms; feelings of extreme well-being, hilarity, confusion and irritability; distortion of time and space; increasing motor activity; and loss of judgment and memory.

Marihuana's "high," often described as "floating on air" or "falling on waves" contrasts sharply with its "down," during which the user experiences severe depression, moodiness, fear of death, and panic.

Continual marihuana users often are lethargic, neglect their personal appearance, and, since the inhaled smoke is irritating, suffer from chronic respiratory disorders in addition to concurrent physical illnesses, such as malnutrition.

The actions of marihuana are exerted on the central nervous system. Their effects, through smoking, are felt in a very few minutes and may persist for as long as 12 hours.

Marihuana abuse does not result in physical dependence. It is a fact, however, that persons physically dependent on such "hard" drugs as heroin almost always have had experience with marihuana, although not necessarily before using these other drugs.

Chronic marihuana users are generally drug dependent—prone individuals, trying through the drug to gain social acceptance or escape painful experiences of anxiety or depression.

From conscious withdrawal, the drug leads the user into an unconscious maze, rendering him incapable of accomplishing great things. Then the satisfactions obtained from marihuana prove insufficient to meet his psychological needs arising from these failures.

The psychological dependence that may occur with continued use of this "magic problem solver" is a very real danger. Since the marihuana user is frequently taking other drugs simultaneously, withdrawal complications may accompany treatment.

Some of the symptoms of marihuana intoxication or use are:

The pupil of the eye becomes dilated, reducing the iris (colored part of the eye) to a minimum color showing, and the sclera (white portion of the eye) becomes bloodshot. In this condition the pupil will not react normally to light and the user will squint or completely close the eyes if looking into a strong light source.

Normally, the pupil of the eye will accommodate a variance in light exposure. When the light is bright, the pupil contracts, but the pupils of an individual under the influence of marihuana will not contract or, at the best will do so very slowly when examined by a flashlight. This sometimes requires the user to wear dark glasses, even at night. It should be construed by the reader that persons wearing dark glasses at night might be under the influence of marihuana particularly when accompanied by accelerated pulse or heartbeat and reckless or erratic operation of a motor vehicle.

Marihuana engulfs members of every social class-being pushed among students on college campuses as well as poverty-stricken urbanites.

Apparent dizziness, peculiar walk or stride, odd behavior such as wanton disregard toward others will be displayed by persons under the influence of marihuana and also may be accompanied by muscular tremors.

In the United States, attitudes of rebellion against authority and thrill seeking are not uncommonly found among marihuana users, who usually are between the ages of twenty and thirty. In addition, its use is probably higher among young persons with developing psychiatric problems than among those without them.

In general, it can be stated that marihuana intensifies the thoughts and fantasies which the user already has or desires to have. Serious crimes have been committed by persons under the influence of marihuana. Taken with liquor, it is especially dangerous.

Homeowners Vote On Constitution

ROMULUS- The Romulus Homeowners Association and interested citizens turned out (standing room only) at the Romulus Elementary School last Thursday to vote on the Proposed New Constitution for the association and to hear our guest speaker, Robert McConeghy, who spoke and answered questions on the School Bond and Millage Issue which will be voted on April 6.

After speaking and fielding questions for over an hour McConeghy asked to be excused. It was his fourth consecutive night speaking on the issue, and due to arising hoarseness, requested that it be continued by personal call to his office or at the OPEN FORUM on March 26.

Due to the fact that the constitution was voted on Article by Article, there remains one to be resolved. Article I, which determines the eligibility for membership did not pass by the 2/3's majority needed for adoption.

The membership voted overwhelmingly to retain our present name Romulus Homeowners Association.

Please look for the related article on the Open Forum, which may be elsewhere in the paper.

GM Complex Started At Willow Run

BELLEVILLE-General Motors Corporation has started construction of its giant new GMC Truck & Coach Division facility to be located in Van Buren Township on March 10.

GM has acquired some 1,500 acres north and northeast of the airfield.

The parts warehouse, covering 20 acres of the 80-acre location will be the first facility planned.

New Government officials from surrounding communities and community leaders attended groundbreaking ceremonies of the huge parts warehouse last week. It is to be built just north of Willow Run Airport.

Township Supervisor Edward C. Stoelton and Mayor Royce E. Smith of Belleville led a contingent of local officials to the long-awaited event.

The new GMC Truck-Coach facility will house about one million square feet of floor space in a building expected to be completed by mid-1971, off Ecorse Rd.

Martin J. Caserio, GM vice president and general manager of the Truck and Coach Division announced that the Master Parts Center will employ some 600 persons when put into operation.

Some employees are expected to transfer from Pontiac and many will be hired locally.

We are being confronted on all sides today by forces and groups that demand changes in our society. It is more comfortable to hold on to the old, familiar ways. But Jesus has changed our inner and outer horizons. He has brought us into the Kingdom of God through our Baptism. We now can see the promise of an entirely new horizon, a new Jerusalem, the City of God.

The new man, with a new vision can dare to look at change and confrontation when the Spirit of Jesus Christ is sustaining and supporting him.

Alfred Perry Says He Will Not Seek Election

ROMULUS-Township Clerk Alfred J. Perry has announced that he will not seek election when and if the proposed City Charter for Romulus Township is approved by the electorate.

Township qualified voters will be asked to approve a City Charter in a special election scheduled for May 7.

Perry, whose present term expires in November, 1970, was a member of the nine member Charter Commission that approved the charter by a vote of 6 to 2 with one member absent on March 11.

In announcing that he would not run for any office, Perry said:

"It is not because of dissatisfaction with the proposed charter. It has in my opinion some shortcomings but in the main it is a good charter and the best of those we as charter commission reviewed and studied.

"We were elected to do a job for the people and that was to present for their approval a proposed city charter. In the final analysis I go along with the final document as approved.

Perry cited internal conflict with the present administration as a major reason for not seeking elective office in the May 7 election. He wouldn't elaborate on this.

The township clerk was the Justice of the peace for 23 months prior to his election to township clerk.

Alfred J. Perry

And he was affiliated with the National Bank of Detroit for 10 years before becoming Justice of the Peace. He served both in the Detroit office and Wayne Branch of the NBD.

Perry has been a resident of Romulus since June, 1963.

He and his wife are parents of eight children. The family resides at 37600 Castle Drive.

If the voters rejected the proposed City Charter, Perry said that he would serve out his present term.

Charter Posts Sought By Six

ROMULUS-Nominating petitions for city positions under Romulus proposed City Charter up for voter decision on May 7 have been taken out by six Romulus area residents.

The new charter provides for a strong mayor type of government with a council of seven members.

The persons who have taken out nominating petitions at election time are Roderick E. Smith, 7300 Taft St. Inkster, present supervisor, mayor's post; Edmund Bizek, Jr., 8950 Cogswell Rd., councilman; Jay Dick, councilman; Barney McGrane, 36511 Romulus, mayor and councilman; Andrew Lopota, 6711 Merriman, councilman; and Chester J. Snyder, 10249 Ozga Rd., councilman.

Deadline for filing petitions is April 3 at 4 p.m. Albert J. Perry, clerk, announced.

Petitions must have a minimum of 50 and maximum of 75 signatures before acceptance by the clerk.

Charter Promotion

"IQ" group is concerned about the integrity and quality of candidates for proposed offices as well as the charter and its implications.

"I don't guess it's any big secret that we have already been circulating around, talking to people we think would make good candidates and trying to interest them in getting involved.

"If we can find enough mutually satisfactory people willing to get involved as candidates, we definitely would expect to get behind their candidacy and promote them for election collectively," he said.

However, he noted, "The only real big issue before the people this particular week is that Saturday, March 28, is the deadline for registration to be eligible to vote in the special City election.

"There obviously isn't time to conduct a full scale voter registration drive... and so we must depend on individuals to use their own initiative, check validity of their current registration, call the township hall if necessary to make sure.

"That's important to us because I think we all want integrity and quality in our voting public, too," he said.

He added that any individuals interested in joining or learning more about the IQ group could call him at 941-9509 this week while arrangements for a headquarters are being looked into.

Chairman

Congress was also contacted and used for reference. The commission then prepared the charter for Romulus Community.

The charter we feel stands on firm foundation of research and avid desire to help the community of Romulus. The proposed charter is a good document and the new governmental organization will be a benefit to the community.

The recent shot fired at the charter was a smoke screen to confuse the issue. The real issue is: Should we become a city?

The majority of the community felt we should become a city. The township form of government is passing into antiquity. The township form of government is generally insufficient because it mixes the executive and legislative parties of government. The supervisor and trustees sit at the same table flexing their muscles.

The source of power is governing a township is often ambiguous and confusing in many areas for instance the Metro Airport.

Political negativism is easy. It is always simpler to be a critic than it is to be positive and constructive.

In looking at the proposed city charter we must look at what it does for the whole community. The charter can not be perfect for everyone. It can be amended from time to time to meet new conditions as they arise. The proposed charter is a giant step forward for the following reasons:

Referendum Vote

First - The charter does away with partisan government. A survey of registered voters conducted by the commission presented an over-all mandate to include this provision.

Secondly - As a township, Romulus has no power to deal with or regulate Detroit Metro Airport. When Romulus becomes a city, Detroit Metro Airport will not be able to indiscriminately expand or change its runways without first consulting the city government.

Thirdly - As a city, Romulus will have control over highways, streets and corporate revenues for financing of streets. State highway road revenue collections will be refunded in some degree to the city as well as other tax revenues. Under township this revenue goes to the county.

Fourthly - Under the charter, a limit that is to be paid to boards and commissions is set. As a township there is no limit on what can be paid.

Fifthly - Under the charter we make it mandatory to present a civil service system to be people. Under the township, there is no mandatory provision to do so.

Sixth - One of the most important sections of the proposed charter liberalizes referendums. It spells it out clearly and precisely. Under township government, referendum is almost impossible to achieve. The law is vague and confusing.

Seventh - The tax limit set up in the charter is only half of the allowable under state law for operations. The tax limit is not necessarily the amount to be set but a maximum limit.

Under township government annexation of choice sections of township land is always a threat. City boundaries are protected. Rogalle stated.

It is only a naive person who thinks that Taylor will not seek to take over the rich industrial land west of Romulus, including the airport and the city of Wayne in not taking land parcels north of Romulus including the G.M. Diesel Plant operations.

In Science Program

Edgemont Students Conduct An Experiment In Learning

BELLEVILLE—The children in Jonathan Hale's sixth grade science classes at Edgemont Elementary School are conducting an unusual experiment—in learning.

For the past eight weeks they have participated in a program of "individualized" science learning which they helped develop for themselves.

"We began the semester," said Hale, "by discussing a number of possible units of science study. The long list of topics we compiled revealed an unusual variety of student interests, and it was then that we began to think about departing from traditional learning methods.

We recalled that scientists are people who look for better ways of doing things, and we decided that, as scientists, we too had to be willing to plan carefully and then innovate."

As a result of these discussions, students and teachers jointly developed an individualized approach to science learning. Each child, either alone or with a partner who shared his interests, selected a topic he wished to pursue. He was not limited to the units of study presented in his science textbook.

The object was for him to find out as much as he could about his chosen subject-area and then to present what he had learned to the class at the conclusion of the project.

Ways of gathering and organizing information were discussed, and the children were encouraged to consult community "experts" and resources in addition to books wherever possible.

Hale stocked the classroom with a variety of reference materials including copies of grade-level science tests used in neighboring school systems. His students had become self-directed researchers, and his role had become one of consultant and guide.

He also found himself willing curator of an array of charts, journals, experiments, and displays which began to fill the classroom and which reflected the diversity of topics under study—Oceanography, Engines, Aviation, Wildlife, Astronomy, Conservation, Mineralogy, Botany. Chemistry—all in one room at one time.

Now, as the conclusion of the experiment approaches, the children are putting the finishing touches on their presentations.

"I have been encouraged by the interest and enthusiasm generated by this approach," says Hale, "and I am impressed by the creativity and self-responsibility it has promoted." But, as good scientists, teacher and students are suspending judgment concerning the overall success of the project until they have a chance to carefully evaluate its results.

LOCAL WRC PRESENTS GIFTS—Members of the John M. Wahl Corps (Belleville) of the Women's Relief Corps visited patients at the Veteran's Hospital facility in Ann Arbor March 12. Shown above is a presentation of some electric razors donated to patients. John M. Wahl Corps Pays Visit To Hospital Patients

BELLEVILLE—Four members of the John M. Wahl Corps No. 87 of the Women's Relief Corps (WRC) of Belleville journeyed to Ann Arbor last Wednesday for the purpose of doing volunteer work among the hospital patients there.

Whatever the patients request in the line of writing letters, or help pass the time by just visiting was on the tour's program.

They presented Harold F. Nordly, director of volunteer services for the V.A.V.S. Hospital with seven new Sunbeam electric razors for the use of the patients.

The Corps had been informed that razors were desperately needed there. The Corps held a linen games party some weeks ago for the express purpose of buying these shavers.

The WRC wishes to thank each and every one, who in any way contributed their services, in order to bring this project to its fulfillment.

The John M. Wahl Corps instituted in Belleville a little over two years ago, has come a long way in helping many people and projects in the area.

They have donated clothing to needy children and to indigent patients at Wayne County General Hospital, visited shut ins, conducted bingo parties for the patients at Woody's Rest Home, in Romulus, entertained mental patients at Wayne County General Hospital, sponsored a patriotic art poster contest for the art students at Belleville High School, presented a beautiful flag to the school for the new auditorium, (incidentally, this poster contest, was such a success, it is planned to make it a yearly project.) supplied flags to boy and girl scout troops, as well as sponsored a girl scout troop.

They also do a lot of volunteer work at the V.A.V.S.

Mrs. Ruth Ann Knysz, president of the corps, has given unstintingly of her time and energy, in order to make

Concerned Parents To Meet

ROMULUS—An evening of entertainment is planned for tonight by the Concerned Parents Adult Association, Mrs. Mattie Hester, chairman, announced.

Meeting monthly at the United Methodist Church, 11190 Olive St., with the purpose of getting to know their neighbors, the group urged that people throughout the township bring their neighbors and join in the singing and games.

"You will miss a real treat if you are not there," said Mrs. Hester. Refreshments will be served during the meeting.

Site Is Rezoned

BELLEVILLE—A parcel of land, located on the corner of Haggerty and Ecorse Rds., previously rezoned from single family residence to commercial by the planning commission has been approved by the township board.

The Boron Oil Company that sought the rezoning is planning to build a service station on the site.

Court Sets VB Date

BELLEVILLE—The 34th District Court now headquartered in Romulus has designated Mondays as Van Buren Township Court Date.

The district court will receive a remuneration of $50 from the township for use of the court facilities on the designated day.

Traffic and ordinance violators and other law offenders required to appear in court will have their cases heard on Mondays, it was reported.

Citizens Study Committee Divisions Make Reports

Compile Findings

BELLEVILLE—A group of some 50 persons met last Wednesday evening, in the cafeteria of Belleville High School. All members of the Citizens Study Committee of Van Buren Schools, they gathered to report on the activities to date of each committee.

Comprised of seven individual units, the program included reports from the following:

Bob LeBlanc, chairman of the transportation committee, Justin Emerson, co-ordinator; Frank Day, chairman of buildings and facilities, Robert Archer, co-ordinator until his appointment to the Van Buren School Board; and Kenn Jennings, finance co-chairman, Rex Buss, co-ordinator.

Still others reporting were Bob Keyser of the public relations committee, Irv Wallace, Co-ordinator; Lynne Hamilton for the senior high school curriculum committee, Bart Berg, co-ordinator; Mrs. Pat Shelp of the junior high school curriculum committee, Mrs. Helen Miller, co-ordinator; and Mrs. Connie Brinkerhoff, representing the elementary curriculum committee, Mrs. Lee Smith, co-ordinator.

Irv Wallace, who was moderator, later led a question and answer discussion concerning various phases of each committee's work. Coffee and donuts were served during which members were able to meet their fellow-workers.

The Citizens Study Committee originated just one year ago with the selection of a seven-member steering committee by the Van Buren School Board.

Each member then assumed leadership of an individual committee which has been involved in research and study of the school system in the seven areas aforementioned.

Reports and suggestions have been submitted to the steering committee and they, in turn, will compile a list of findings and make recommendations to the Board of Education.

Burning Warning Issued

BELLEVILLE—With the approaching of spring and summer months with their accompanying dry spells, Van Buren residents were warned Monday about starting grass fires and burning debris.

Permits must be procured by application to township officials prior to burning, of any debris.

Fire Commissioner Joseph Hogan expressed concern and reported that last year grass fires resulted in "considerable expense" to the township fire stations.

He stated that if investigation proves that resident's negligence was responsible for setting of grass or related fires then ordinance violation tickets will be issued.

Conviction can bring jail or fines or both.

A Second For Susan

SUSAN CLARK, who's busy with final preparations for her March 28 wedding day, was the guest of honor at a second shower in recent weeks.

Held at the Corzine home on E. Huron River Drive, the party was planned and given by Sue's six future attendants: Donna Clark, Sharon Studer, Nancy Corzine, Mary Damon, Kim Studer, and Patti Clark.

Some 17 friends and former classmates arrived for the Sunday get-together bearing gifts with a 'personal' touch and following several rounds of buncos they got to ooh and ah as the honoree unwrapped her pretty, colorful gifts. Another perky addition to the proceedings was the corsage of pink and white carnations worn by Sue--a token from her 'girls.'

Also carrying out the pink and white theme of the upcoming wedding were the floral centerpiece and tall pink tapers on the dessert table.

Sue will become Mrs. Paul Studer at the First United Methodist Church of Ypsilanti.

Another For Bette

ALSO 'INVITED' to another shower in her honor was spring bride-to-be Betty Gene Oelke whose marriage to Sp/4 Jack Alan Burgett will take place April 25 at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville.

A color scheme of orchid and mint green decorated the Rawsonville Road home of Bonnie Pinter as she, Mrs. Marjorie Bock and her daughter, Margaret, entertained at a miscellaneous event.

Thirty-five ladies spent an evening of games (amid much laughter) as Bette intermittently opened her gifts.

The highlight of the evening found the group compiling a recipe book for the future home maker--each guest having donated her favorite recipe.

Light refreshments followed.

Puppy Shower

AND HERE'S a brand new one on me! A 'first' for the women's pages!

There was a shower last week out at the Romulus Township home of Mrs. Ann Lambert in honor of "Ladybird", her one-and-a-half year old collie, who recently gave birth to eight roly-polly puppies (as yet unnamed.)

Planning the surprise were Mrs. Margaret Bercheny and Mrs. Gazella Trimari, relatives of Mrs. Lambert.

Arriving with gifts of dogfood, utensils, bones, doggie playthings, and a number of other 'bassinet' items were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bercheny, Mr. and Mrs. John Bercheny, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Goodin, Mr. and Mrs. Trimari, Mrs. Lucille Hansen, Mrs. Barbara Taggart, Mrs. Mae Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bercheny, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Trimari.

And, of course, there were plenty of refreshments to help round out the fun-filled evening.

Birthday At "Bimbo's"

NANCY HUDGE, who was a March 14 arrival eight years ago, will remember her 1970 birthday as something really special. With her five closest friends, Karen Day, Valerie Sierota, Jill Neupert, Beth Brinkerhoff, and Jill Mlsna; her cousin Carol Smith; and little sister, Nora, she enjoyed a fun-filled evening at "Bimbo's" in Ann Arbor.

The olde-tyme saloon atmosphere with its lively music-makers provided an ideal spot in which to celebrate. And Nan's parents, Ed and Mary Anne Hudge, had baskets of peanuts, big pitchers of red pop, and lots of pizza sent to the table amid the sing-along sessions. Nancy was even serenaded by the entire 'house' as the band gave out with a banjo version of 'Happy Birthday.'

Invited along for the gala outing were Nancy's aunt and uncle, Lee (her God-mother) and Bert Smith. The finale to the big day came with cake and ice cream at Bill Knapp's.

Mrs. Woods Hostess
To Past Matrons

The March meeting of the Past Matrons' Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, O.E.S. was held at the Belleville Rd. home of Past Matron Bedia Woods on Thursday, March 5. Present for the 12:30 luncheon were 13 members and one guest, the Worthy Matron, Fannie Cox.

Due to the illness of the president Beatrice Boldt, the short business meeting was conducted by the vice-president, Joyce Maki. The chaplain read the Easter message for devotions. Cards were sent to several absent members.

The hostess presented three guessing games with awards being given to Frances McAtee, Ruby Clayton, Effie Kerbyson, Lucy Lambert, and Cora Bradshaw.

The hostess was assisted in serving by her sister, Marie Murphy, and her daughter, Peggy.

SENATORS ARE GUESTS--Two Michigan State Senators were guests at the March 2 meeting of the Belleville Business and Professional Womens Club. Senator James Gray of the 27th District (standing) addressed the group, his topic being the Educational Reform Program. Also attending was Senator William Faust of the 13th District, seated between Miss Bertha Retting (left) and Mrs. Betty Savage. Educational Reform Program
Presented at BPW Meeting

Michigan State Senator James Gray of the 27th District addressed the Business and Professional Womens Club at its regular meeting Monday, March 2. Senator William Faust of the 13th District introduced Mr. Gray to the members expressing his regrets in having conflicting appointments making it impossible for him to stay for the program and talk to the group as originally planned.

Mr. Gray's topic was the Educational Reform Program which is presently before the state legislature. He reviewed briefly the various resolutions and bills which make up the entire educational program and offered his personal comments on each. As a former teacher and local school board member prior to running for state office, Mr. Gray felt himself to be qualified and interested in the action being taken in the area of educational reform. "Ignorance and apathy are the downfall of any program," stated Mr. Gray.

Wig Styles Shown

The Home Arts Club held its monthly meeting in the multi-purpose room of Edgemont School with 35 members and eight guests present. Anita Parsons of the program committee introduced Jan Matthews from Jan and San's Beauty Salon who presented a program on hair pieces for women.

Using her sister Mary as her model, she proceeded to illustrate the various ways one can change her hair style with the addition of wigs, wiglets, cascades, and falls. She also answered a number of questions for the group.

AT THE BUSINESS meeting which followed president Marguerite Greathouse presented the nominating committee for April, Pat Cunningham, Doreen Craven, Jane Rockwell, and Wanda Hughes.

Program chairman Sharlene Tator announced plans for the upcoming club banquet which will be held in May at Metro Inn. She also explained the program for April 13--an antique show to be held at The Loft in Ypsilanti.

Following adjournment the group enjoyed refreshments served by Vera Nolf and her committee: Mildred Baker, Emma Stevens, Carol Schank, Sharon Richendollar, Jane Rockwell, and Lee Smith. Using St. Patrick's Day as their theme they centered their table with a little tree bearing green and white shamrock candies and served a green molded salad and assorted crackers.

Guests for the evening were Pat Budd, Phyllis Breithaupt, Shirley Mentel, Janet Patterson, Mary Ann Colton, Ruth Shoup, Sue Stevens, and Gwen Liebler.

Honeymoon In Florida

McCully-Melton United At Rawsonville Church

In an afternoon ceremony at the Rawsonville Community Baptist Church February 28, Judy Irene Melton was united in marriage with Douglas John McCully. The Rev. James O. Phillips, a former classmate of the bride's mother, presided at the double ring service.

Floral arrangements in the church were composed of white gladioli and chrysanthemums. Mrs. James Phillips at the organ accompanied the soloist, Richard Hunter, who sang "Because", "The Lord's Prayer", and "Happy the House Where Christ Abides."

Prior to her wedding, Judy visited her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Earl Hamilton of Willis Road, who was too ill to attend and presented her with a corsage of pink roses.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN H. CURRY

John H. Curry Receives Foreign Service Promotion

John Howard Curry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Curry of Ohio, was recently nominated for promotion to Class Five in the Foreign Service of the United States.

Curry, an Ohio State University graduate, served in the U.S. Army Reserve from 1958 to 1959 and entered the Foreign Service in 1966. He has been stationed in Mexico

City and is presently assigned to the Department of State as an international economist in the Foreign Reporting Division.

Mrs. Curry is the former Kathryn A. Pavelka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Pavelka of Wyandotte, formerly of Belleville. She graduated from Belleville High School in 1961.

There she donned her satin bridal gown. Fashioned in toe-touching length, the fitted bodice was styled with a scoop neckline and long sleeves cuffed in Chantilly lace. The lace, repeated at the waistline and down the front of the skirt, was encrusted with seed pearls and crystals.

Her bouffant veil of silk illusion fell to mid-back length from a petaled headpiece accented with crystals and pearls. Her bouquet of white mums and ivy was centered with a white orchid which she later pinned to her blue chiffon going-away dress.

THE DAUGHTER of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Melton of 44251 Willis Road, Belleville, Judy chose Rose Piper of Belleville to serve as her only attendant. Her yellow batiste gown was trimmed with white daisies and her matching veil was held by a yellow bow.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred McCully of 12410 Lake Pointe Pass, Belleville, asked a school friend, John Hall of Ypsilanti, to be best man. Ushers were the bride's brothers, Michael and Jimmy Melton.

At the reception which followed in the church, the bride's mother greeted guests in a green wool dress and corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a grape wool ensemble and pink rose corsage.

The newlyweds, who flew to Florida for a two week honeymoon, are now making their home at 400 Liberty Street, Belleville.

The rehearsal dinner was held the evening before the wedding at the Frontier Beef Buffet in Ann Arbor.

The new Mrs. McCully graduated from Belleville High School in 1968 and is employed at Mel's Cleaners, Belleville. Her husband is a 1966 graduate of Roosevelt High School, Ypsilanti. He attended Adrian and Cleary Colleges and is an employee of H and H Automotive and Howard Johnson's.

A family friend of the bridegroom, Philip Syler of Belleville, made a tape recording of the ceremony for the bride's grandmother and the bridegroom's sister, Margaret, who was hospitalized at Ferris State College and unable to attend the wedding.

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS J. McCULLY

Foreign Seasonings Add Flavor Frills To 'Plain Jane' Stews

Think Japanese Sukiyaki or Indian Curry are dull? Of course not! They are, however relatives of a stew, a dish once considered plain and ordinary. But today, stews have gained prestige. With seasonings inspired by the culinary history of the world they have increased appeal for family or company service.

Reba Staggs, home economist with the National Live Stock and Meat Board suggests trying two versions of stew that won't be called commonplace. One, Home-Style Beef Stew, provides an especially flavorful family meal. Then for a tasty trip to the Russian scene, she recommends a veal stew that takes on gourmet character as the tender cubes of meat are smothered with sour cream and mushrooms. This recipe is party sized.

Home-Style

Beef Stew

2 pounds boneless beef for stew, cut in 1 to 1½-inch cubes
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 cup water
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 bay leaf
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
6 small onions
4 medium-sized carrots, cut in 1-inch pieces
1 package (10 ounces) frozen baby lima beans
1 package (9 ounces) frozen cut green beans
Flour for gravy, if desired

Combine flour and salt. Dredge meat in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add water, tomato sauce, bay leaf and Worcestershire sauce. Cover tightly and cook slowly until meat is almost tender, 1½ to 2 hours. Add vegetables and continue cooking 20 to 30 minutes or until vegetables are done. Discard bay leaf. Thicken cooking liquid with flour for gravy, if desired. 6 servings.

Veal Stew

With Sour Cream

3 pounds boneless veal shoulder, cut in 1½-inch cubes
½ cup flour
1 tablespoon salt
¼ cup lard
3 medium-sized onions, quartered
1 cup sliced celery
2 cups water
1/8 teaspoon thyme
1 medium-sized head cauliflower, broken into pieces
1 can (4 ounces) button mushrooms, drained
1 cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup chopped parsley

Mix together flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat with seasoned flour. Brown meat on all sides in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add onions, celery, water and thyme. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1½ hours. Add cauliflower and continue cooking 30 to 45 minutes, or until cauliflower is done and meat is tender. Stir in mushrooms, sour cream and parsley. Heat through. 8 to 10 servings.

Camp Fire Girls To Be Honored

The Detroit Archdiocesan Committee for Camp Fire Girls will hold its annual anniversary celebration at 3 p.m. Sunday, March 22, at the Blessed Sacrament Cathedral.

Father Edward F. Haggerty, Archdiocesan Chaplain, will celebrate a special Mass in honor of the anniversary of the founding of the movement in the United States. He will also present certificates of public recognition to those Camp Fire Girls who have earned the Marian Medal during the past year.

Another facet of the program will be the presentation of the St. Anne Medal to Camp Fire Girls leaders who have made an outstanding contribution to the spiritual welfare of girls in the Camp Fire Program.

These are meaningful ceremonies. The Marian Medal is the highest award a Camp Fire Girl can merit through consistent advancement in a mastery of the arts of the Camp Fire program, together with a parallel growth in the knowledge and practice of the Catholic religion.

The St. Anne Medal is the greatest accolade an adult leader can earn for her success in using the Camp Fire Girls program to foster spiritual growth.

The public is cordially invited to attend, especially the families and friends of those young ladies who are active in Camp Fire Girls units under Catholic auspices in the archdiocese.

This is the first time that the anniversary Mass will be celebrated in the afternoon, and the first time on a Sunday.

It is hoped that this change in scheduling will make it more convenient for the public to attend.

A group from Immaculate Heart of Mary will provide singing and guitar music for the Mass. A group from St. Bartholomew's will conduct the flag ceremony.

Judy Fruit Included In New YWCA Leadership

BELLEVILLE—Investment in the YWCA of Western Wayne County is an investment in blue chip stock.

Section Chairman for the United Foundation being responsible for monies collected in the lower the Sumpter Inter-Agency Council which was effective in bringing the mobile health unit to Sumpter Township for limited community use.

The original amount of purchase is small - $3.50 for membership plus a willingness to get involved.

But as in a thoroughly sound venture, the dividends pay off over the year. The rewards of involvement are innumerable - Knowledge, Fellowship, Satisfaction, Service.

Many women and girls - over 3000 of them - have paid their investment fee. Hundreds of them have believed strongly enough in making their money work that they have involved themselves in the activity of the YWCA.

They believe in the Association as a movement where women and girls can come to grips with the problems facing the world as well as the local community and where they can reap the rich dividends of their small investment.

Mrs. James Fruit is representative of the outstanding leadership in the YWCA of Western Wayne County.

She lives in Belleville and serves the Y as a member of the Board of Directors carrying the responsibility for the development of program in the community. She also serves as corresponding secretary of the board of directors.

Denton School Holds Cakewalk

BELLEVILLE--New basketball uniforms are now a reality for the Denton Elementary School's "Mustangs".

The cakewalk brought in a total of $133.76, which was more than enough to buy basketball jerseys for the team players.

Last Tuesday (March 10) the Denton Gymnasium was filled to capacity by 200 eager parents and children. Each was anxious to win one of the 75 cakes donated by parents and community members.

"With the excess we are planning to either buy or make the shorts," reported principal William Chizmar.

"I may seem to be repeating myself, but it truly is a pleasure to serve such a fabulous community."

"MY THAT LOOKS GOOD:" seems to be the comment of Mrs. Mary Murrell, fifth grade teacher at Denton Elementary School, to student Mark Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Cole, 6941 Denton Rd., after winning at the Cakewalk held March 10 at the school. The event, sponsored by the school's PTO, was held to obtain funds for the purchase of basketball uniforms. More than $133 was taken in.

Family Planning Mobile Unit To Begin Operation in June

A family planning mobile unit, fully equipped with examining table, dressing room, supply room, work counter desk and interviewing room, is slated to begin servicing the poverty areas in out-county Wayne, starting the month of June.

The Wayne County Office of Economic Opportunity announced that $75,000 was allocated by the federal government in October, 1969 to operate the health program, that is designed for out-county women who have expressed the need for birth control services, but due to transportation have been unable to reach existing services.

Three permanent clinics operated by the Wayne County Health department and one by the Planned Parenthood League reach only a limited number of these services.

The mobile clinic will be staffed by a full-time physician and a nurse--professionals experienced in the field of family planning.

A specially trained corps of Neighborhood Health Aides and volunteers are ready to begin providing door-to-door information on health services and informing the area of the mobile clinic services. Community health committees have been established and will act as advisory councils for family planning and other health services.

A concentrated educational program on health and family planning methods will be held throughout out-county Wayne and reach the rural and semi-rural poverty populations, as well as those in urban areas that are distant from existing clinics.

Mrs. JoAnn Tolliver, health director for the OEO Family Planning Program, stated, "It is hoped that through the door-to-door outreach program we reach at least a large portion of the 12,970 women, who according to statistics, are in need of family planning services. Before actual clinic operations take place, a series of open house will be planned to allow the public to visit the mobile unit before the clinic operation begins service."

Clinic locations will be selected by the Community Advisory councils and be moved as the need indicates.

The project will be coordinated closely with Neighborhood Action Centers, PRESCAD, Family Health Centers, and other health agencies.

The Wayne County OEO has established a close planning and working relationship with Planned Parenthood League of Metropolitan Detroit and the Wayne County Health Department.

Fruehauf Leases Gar Wood's Ypsi Plant For Home Building

YPSILANTI — Fruehauf Corporation, world leader in the manufacture of total transportation products and systems for road, rail, sea and air, has announced another significant step in its entry into the building industry.

William E. Grace, president and chief executive officer, said his firm has leased and will equip a pilot plant which by late this summer will be producing at the rate of one multi-family modular home per day.

The facility, containing 93,000 square feet of floor space on four acres, is the former Gar Wood plant, located at 800 Lowell St., Ypsilanti. It will serve temporarily as the main offices of Fruehauf Buildings, a newly-established division of the Fruehauf Corporation.

Last month the company erected a three bedroom, two-story modular home on a site near its main offices.

The four module prototype, built solely for the purpose of testing and evaluation, contains three bedrooms, a bath and a half, and 1,100 square feet of living space.

In taking this major step into the building industry, Grace said Fruehauf will utilize the expertise gained during more than 50 years as the major producer of large structures such as truck trailers and containers to manufacture and market well-constructed and economically attractive modular homes and other buildings.

He noted that there were "significant similarities" in the techniques used in producing modular homes and those used in manufacturing trailers and containers.

"All are modular units requiring high strength walls, ceilings and floors. The containers we make are capable of being stacked as can be the housing units," he said. "The tolerances required to stack these homes several stories high are not different than those needed to stack intermodal shipping containers."

"Demand assuredly will exceed supply in housing for most of the seventies. This national need combined with our manufacturing know-how will be decided assets in attaining these objectives," Grace said.

Last May, Fruehauf announced that its Research and Development Division, under the direction of Vice President Robert Flagan, was launching a study to determine the feasibility of moving into the field of factory-built modular housing.

Roblee B. Martin was subsequently named vice president and general manager of Fruehauf Buildings.

As a result of Grace's announcement, Martin said his division also plans by late summer to start construction of the first full-scale plant within a 50-mile radius of Detroit.

Initial Employment will be 100 persons. The new Fruehauf Home Building Industry may eventually employ a working force of some 800 persons.

On Driver Training Faust Co-Sponsors Bill To Assist Handicapped

Senator William Faust (D-13th District) announced that he and Senator Gilbert Bursley (R-Ann Arbor) have introduced Senate Bill 1304, a bill to authorize the Department of Education to conduct driver training courses for physically handicapped persons, whenever physically possible.

"We have introduced this bill to allow those handicapped persons, whenever physically possible, to participate in driver training courses. There is no reason, in today's society, why a handicapped person must remain shut up inside his house without the means to travel in the outside world," Senator Faust said.

"The information we have been able to gather from the State Police has indicated that the accident rate for handicapped persons is actually lower than for the normal driver. With that kind of record already established, I feel perfectly satisfied to recommend that this course

Last Of Area Cage Teams Surrender

Huron Regional Dreams Shattered

Huron's plans for a regional championship and a shot at the Class B state basketball title took a twist for the worst last week as defending champ, River Rouge, rallied to a 67-57 victory over coach Dave Court's Chiefs in the first round of regional competition at Bowen Field House in Ypsilanti.

Huron lost its 6-8 center Rick Wasilewski in the final four minutes of the game after the Chiefs had tied up the score at 46-all. Wasilewski, involved in a jump ball with Rouge heavyweight Dwayne Johnson, sustained a sprained ankle after Johnson came down on the Huron cager's foot.

Though he attempted to play the rest of the way, Wasilewski's effectiveness was decreased visibly.

"That was the turning point of the game in my opinion," said Court, whose team finished with its first district title and a 17-5 over-all record. "I feel that the momentum was with us after we had tied the score." Wasilewski sank nine baskets and three free throws for 21 points—his team's high, but didn't score in those crucial last four minutes of the game.

Rouge went on to claim the regional title. They also defeated Inkster and Willow Run.

Rouge grabbed a 15-12 first quarter lead against Huron and stayed ahead 31-26 at halftime. The Panthers remained in front 45-40 for three quarters.

Most of Huron's problems were caused by prolific scorer, Malcolm Moulton who held a torrid hand. Moulton hit on 14 from the field and added six free throws for 34 points to earn the game's individual scoring honors.

Also in two figures for Rouge was Johnson, who accounted for 13.

Huron received an outstanding performance from Butch Suemnick and Randy Gorham who combined for 28 of their team's points. Suemnick dumped in five from the field and five free throws for 15 points while Gorham had six field goals and one free throw for 13.

Rouge was also hot at the free throw line where the Panthers capitalized on 11 of 15 shots. Huron, however, struggled through the game with 11 of 21.

Commenting on his team's record-setting season, coach Court said: "I'm proud with the way our team played this season. This is the best team I've ever coached.

All-Area Teams Coming Up Next

The cream of the high school athletic crop will come to the top in the following weeks as the Associated Newspapers will feature All-Area teams in basketball, wrestling and swimming.

Picked by the coaches themselves, in cooperation with the sports department staff, the athletes named to this year's teams are considered among the top college prospects in the area.

In each of the three above mentioned sports, the Associated Newspapers will also name its Coach of the Year.

Don't miss out on the coming editions—they're the climax of an exciting high school winter sports year.

THE SPORTS MERIDIAN

By Tom Mooradian

And Then There Was One

To be sure, it wasn't the one basketball team that this columnist thought would survive the regional championship—but Garden City West and coach Chris Babler did it.

And all credit to them.

The Tigers have made believers out of a lot of unorthodox fans including the Sports Meridian and Detroit Catholic Central—whom they neatly put away in the loss column Saturday to win their first regional championship.

Wow! Twenty-one straight victories for Babler & Co. Almost unbelievable. Fantastic! And all that jazz. Who would have believed that the Drewitz-Leszczynski-Nustad-Rutter-Lewis-Guzowski-Kobiela line could have accomplished so much.

Coach Babler says, "the victories are the result of hard work, deserving to boys who have played so hard."

Can't dispute that—never argue with a winner.

Do you know there were so many fans wanting in at the West-DCC championship match that flocks were turned away. In the corridor, I bumped into Bill Pinnell, the athletic director at West High and would you believe he said: his father and mother were outside and couldn't get in.

There were hundreds of others like the Pinnells who were left staying in the cold.

And we have to give credit to Walt Cosen, AD at Franklin High, the host school for the regional, who patiently aired all complaints for tickets and responded accordingly.

Cosen and staff should be commended for their organizational acuity.

Even Joe LaScola, Cherry Hill head cage coach, had to use some fast talking to manipulate a couple of tickets. (But, Joe, you should know that Cosens knows the Sports Meridian by now.)

Oh, Those Vikings

And, I guess, Rouge also made a believer out of us. I thought those Panthers didn't stand a chance against Inkster this season. But, apparently, coach Lofton Greene's charisma is just too much.

Hope none will take the above as an indication that it was Greene's charisma and not his team that won Friday's regional game with Inkster.

Greene had the horses, the marbles or whatever you want to call it—and left little doubt that the Panthers couldn't go all the way and successfully defend their Class B state title.

Just can't understand those Vikings, however.

Man-for-man, Inkster was no less than Rouge. And Coach George Thompson Jr. has proven himself a capably coach.

It's an enigma that I'm afraid I'll never be able to solve.

Emerson Is Back

Football fans in the area will also be happy to know that Keith Emerson, former athletic director at Dearborn Heights Robichaud High School will be coaching next season at Belleville.

Emerson, who dropped out of sight two seasons ago, will take over from Jim Richendollar who recently was named to a principalship at a junior high school in Belleville.

And, sports fans in the area who tried to contact this columnist over the weekend probably became frustrated. We have moved again.

For the umpteenth time, we relocated. This time into the old Splitter-Demmer (gotta give Ford a plug) building on Michigan Avenue in Wayne.

You can reach the Sports Department at 729-4000, X 47.

Hope we'll stay put at this number for some time—but don't count on it.

A GREAT YEAR—Led by Rick Wasilewski (44), Huron emerged from the 1970 campaign with a record-establishing 17-5 over-all record and its first district basketball title. One of the reasons for the Chiefs' success was the outstanding performance of Wasilewski who scored more than 1,000 points in his three year varsity career. Above, Wasilewski is surrounded by Grosse Ile cagers in district playoffs—a game which Huron won that helped the Chiefs avenge one of their five losses.

MR. X
Better known as Manny Lentine, St. Mary's of Wayne athletic director and dean of area coaches.

Mystery Panelist Sheds Cage Mask

If you have been keeping a close tab on the Prep Basketball Predictions all these weeks, you'd have noticed that no matter what the odds — there was one person who always picked St. Mary's of Wayne to win.

And that man was Mr. X!

And, if you haven't guessed by now, our Mystery Panelist, Mr. X was none other than St. Mary's head cage coach, the dean of area coaches, Mr. Manuel Lentine.

Lentine, coming on strong at the end of the season, didn't fare too badly, either. He forced veteran sports analyst, Charley Dickson and News Editor, Dick McKnight, to share fifth place with him.

The trio finished with identical 69 of 104 records for an average of .663.

In first place, incidentally, was Sports Editor Tom Mooradian who nosed out Wayne Editor, Jim Bradley

Mix a play-maker with four prolific scorers and you'll have some of the ingredients that go into the making of the Suburban Six Conference mythical basketball team.

The play-maker, Pat Cunningham, a 5-11 senior guard, who led Plymouth to its second straight conference championship was an unanimous choice by the coaches who picked the team.

Plymouth shared the conference title with Livonia Bentley. Both teams finished with 9-1 league records.

Also named to the all-conference squad were Belleville's prolific scorer, Garrade Pettus, a 6-0 junior; Livonia Bentley forward, Tom Guilfoyle; Trenton's Jim Grace and Plymouth's Charlie Wolf.

Named to the Second Team were Dave Cline (Trenton); Rick Taylor (Redford Union); Gary Bevington (Redford Union); Jim Singleton (Belleville); and Plymouth's Howard Schryer and Casey Jones were awarded honorable mention.

County Youth Council Established By OEO

ELOISE—Much has been said by the Wayne County Office of Economic Opportunity about maximum feasible participation, community action, and community involvement.

Now augmented by "youth action" and youth participation, OEO take steps to establish a Wayne County Community Youth Council, composed of boys and girls representing eight target area communities: Highland Park, Hamtramck, River Rouge, Ecorse, Inkster, Romulus, Taylor, and Sumpter.

The youth, ranging from ages 16-25, are doing their thing in compliance with new Federal guidelines for youth program funding, which require youth involvement in planning comprehensive year-round programs.

Last Saturday (March 14) a meeting was held in the Inkster LeMoine Gardens Community Building, 29999 Pine Street, at 10 a.m. The young people carried out activities in planning priorities for target area youth development programs based upon the needs expressed by youth.

The Community Youth Council will be involved in all policy and administrative decisions regarding overall planning, implementation, and monitoring of the OEO-sponsored Youth Development Program for the community.

At a previous meeting, forty-two young representatives participated in identifying the needs of youth by discussing various problems. Concerns and ideas included: meaningful employment in the local communities. Why jobs are hard to find, skill training, Junior Achievement Projects, planning and controlling youth activities, recreation and the need for recreation facilities.

A main concern identified and articulated by representatives of an Inkster group told how they are implementing projects to help improve the self-image of young persons, to instill positive change in the attitudes, values and behavior of disadvantaged and minority youth.

Other areas of responsibility of the Community Youth Council, according to OEO guidelines, include participation in program operation. Youth will have, for the first time, the opportunity to take part in establishing criteria for selection of personnel involvement in the program, and in selecting key staff and technical advisors in the Youth Development Programs operating in their geographical area.

They will assist in the initial screening and make recommendations to the administering agency, where possible, youth will fill staff and operating positions for Youth Development Programs.

State Police Has Film On Snowmobile

A new audio visual approach to the growing problem of snowmobile safety has been announced by Col. Fredrick E. Davids, Director of Michigan State Police.

A fifteen minute, color movie depicting safe snowmobile operation has been released by the State Police. According to Davids it's one of the few films of its kind available. "Up to now there have been no snowmobile safety films that show the 'dos' and 'don'ts' of the sport," Davids said. "This new motion picture tells a real story of common sense and sportsmanship."

Shot in Michigan's northern snow country, the film was produced by departmental personnel with the cooperation of an Upper Peninsula TV broadcaster (WLUC-Marquette).

Davids indicated the film would be added to the State Police library and offered to the general public on an availability loan basis.

Associated Newspapers Move To New Home

Like any other family that nearly triples in size, the Associated Newspapers, Inc. publications have needed a new home for some time.

And now we have one, the building at 35540 Michigan Ave. West in Wayne that formerly housed the Spittler-Demmer auto dealership.

The move was completed today with the transfer of our production department. Our other departments moved last weekend.

With the greater floor space in the renovated building, we have been able to consolidate virtually all of our operation that sees more than 72,000 newspapers distributed each week throughout Western Wayne County.

That 72,000 circulation is a far cry from the 27,066 newspapers we distributed on May 24, 1954, the day Associated moved into our previous home a block farther west at 35612 Michigan Ave. West.

"By consolidating our operation, we should be able to provide an even better newspaper for all of our readers and advertisers," said Eldon C. Gensheimer, regional manager for Panax Corporation of East Lansing, owner of Associated and 16 other daily and weekly newspapers in Michigan.

Workmen have been toiling hard and fast since mid-January to get the building ready for a newspaper operation. As to be expected, a few bugs remain to be worked out of our system, so we can only ask for your patience if something goes wrong during our transition period.

Any comparison between the building as it stands now and as it was before is purely coincidental.

Upon entering the front double doors, you will be greeted by our receptionist-switchboard operator, Donna McDonald, who can direct you to any of our departments.

At your immediate left would be the classified advertising department, headed by Classified Manager Charles Dickson and which can help you turn an empty room or unneeded item into cash through your use of a want ad.

At your immediate right would be the editorial department, which is headed by Executive Editor Basil Stevens and has the responsibility of all the news stories and pictures appearing in all nine newspapers published by Associated.

A hallway to the left of what used to be the auto dealership showroom leads customers to our circulation department, run by Circulation Manager Art Sandstedt.

The production department, directed by Arthur Sneath, also is the rear of the first floor, occupying most of the space from the old garage area.

The display advertising department rounds out the main floor. Headed by Display Manager Don Robinson, it can be reached by a separate door at the far left of the building off the former garage driveway.

The bookkeeping department, directed by Controller Dale Larkin, and the general manager's office, occupy the second floor, which can be reached by a door and stairs at the front left corner of the building.

A total of 81 fulltime employees help publish your Associated newspaper each week. The new building will allow us to house all of them under one roof instead of the two buildings and extra office in Wayne and separate offices in Westland, Garden City, Inkster, Plymouth, Livonia and Belleville.

After today, only our Belleville office will remain open. Substations set up at drug stores will be available for submitting classified advertising and news items and photographs for our editions in Westland, Garden City, Inkster, Plymouth, Livonia and Canton Township.

We hope you will drop by in the near future to see our new surroundings.

Shazam! The Easter Bunny!

LIVONIA—A swirl of Mr. Whoodini's magic wand will produce the Easter Bunny in the flesh at 11 a.m. Saturday, March 21, at Wonderland Center, Plymouth and Middlebelt in Livonia.

After the magic arrival, Mr. Whoodini and the bunny will pass out chocolate Easter eggs to children in the crowd.

A baby animal farm will be open all day under the big top. The farm will feature animals like sheep, pigs, goats, ducks and rabbits.

In other action: A Detroit church and Wayne County government plan to cooperate in a unique halfway house project designed to give mildly retarded youths a better chance of becoming self-supporting citizens.

The project was conceived by members of the Boulevard United Church of Christ, 12929 Joy Road, Detroit. It received preliminary approval by a unanimous vote of the County Board of Supervisors, meeting March 12 as the ways and means committee.

Under the plan, youths of age 17 or older who have successfully completed vocational training at the Wayne County Child Development Center will live temporarily at the house while working and learning to be self-reliant.

The church would purchase the house, a two-story brick boarding house with 14 bedrooms at 2362 East Grand Boulevard, Detroit, and pay its operating expenses.

The County, in turn, would pay approximately $15,000 a year for a married couple to act as resident supervisors.

The Child Development Center, located near Northville, is a residential school for mildly retarded children who are trainable. It has some 350 students, aged 8 to 19.

"Ninety percent of our students are potentially employable," said Robert P. Kiekow, center vocational director. "The first couple of months usually determine whether they'll be successful. The halfway house will give them support and counseling during that critical adjustment period."

About a dozen youths will live at the house, paying room rent of $25 to $35 a month.

The project was initiated by Mrs. Leona Riebling, a church member. She was familiar with the problems of

The church formed a corporation to raise the money for purchase and maintenance of the house by soliciting funds from civic and church organizations. A private foundation pledged $5,000 and the Detroit Metropolitan Association of the United Church of Christ contributed $500.

"We hope to inspire other churches to take direct action in solving community problems," said the Rev. Rodney L. Dopp. "Here is a project that will have great benefits at very modest cost."

The Child Development Center subcommittee of the Board of Supervisors Health, Education and Welfare Committee toured the house and then urged approval of the project.

Members of the subcommittee are: Carl D. Pursell, of Plymouth, R-District 26, chairman; Michael J. Novak, Detroit, D-Dist. 1, vice chairman; Harvey J. Beadle, Redford, D-Dist. 19; Joseph Cardinal, Dearborn, D-Dist. 21; John S. Cook, Jr., Detroit, D-Dist. 17; and N. Frank Cylkowski, D-Dist. 16 (ex officio).

Faust Sponsors Driver Ed Bill

Senator William Faust (D-13th District) announced that he and Senator Gilbert Bursley (R-Ann Arbor) today introduced Senate Bill 1304, a bill to authorize the Department of Education to conduct driver training courses for physically handicapped persons, whenever physically possible.

"We have introduced this bill to allow those handicapped persons, whenever physically possible, to participate in driver training courses. There is no reason, in today's society, why a handicapped person must remain shut up inside his house without the means to travel in the outside world," Senator Faust said.

"The information we have been able to gather from the State Police has indicated that the accident rate for handicapped persons is actually lower than for the normal driver. With that kind of record already established, I feel perfectly satisfied to recommend that this course of action be pursued as general education policy by the Department of Education."

"I expect favorable action on this bill in the near future. I would appreciate it if parents of children who might be affected by this bill, would contact me in Lansing with their opinions on this bill," Senator Faust stated.

Wallflower Rooms Bloom Into Decorator Beauties

Some rooms that need to be considered dull by definition have bloomed like ugly ducklings into beautiful home highlights.

These rooms included kitchens, bathrooms, laundry rooms and general utility areas. Their wallflower reputation resulted from their functions. Subject to heat, humidity, moisture and easy soiling, the rooms were difficult to decorate and hard to keep clean. The transformation from workrooms to showrooms came with the development of well-designed appliances, glamor fixtures, and decorative materials that combine high-style and low-care.

In place of stark-looking sinks, awkward refrigerators and grimy stoves, came streamlined color-matched units with easy-clean features. Clumsy laundry washbasins and rows of clothes lines were replaced with stylish washers and dryers. Bathrooms — which had as much decor as hospital operating rooms — have undergone the greatest glamor transformation. Now they rival Roman baths for luxury, with sunken tubs, built-in sunlamps, even adjoining atriums.

But what made the biggest change for average homeowners was the availability of modern building materials that are attractive, reasonably-priced, and require little or no care.

A prime example is plastic-surfaced hardboard wall panels. Resistant to moisture and humidity, washable (most stains wipe off with a damp cloth), and dent, mar and scuff-proof, these panels are practical for hard-wear areas. What's more, because they come in a wide range of beautiful finishes (including woodgrains, colors, marbles, tiles, and patterns) they add a decorative dimension not previously available for "problem" rooms.

Easy installation of the paneling is another asset. It can be installed over furring strips or, in some cases, right on the existing wall. A waterproof, cartridge-type adhesive is available for nail-less application. Ready-made matching trim and moldings further simplify the job.

The wide array of hardboards, and their decorative uses throughout the house are explained in a new full-color, illustrated brochure, "New Dimensions in Living". It's available for 25 cents from the American Hardboard Association, 20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60606.

Glynn Named Chairman

DETROIT—James E. Glynn has been named Wayne County Michigan Week Chairman by L.J. Hinch, regional chairman for Michigan Week in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties. This year's Michigan Week activities extend from May 16-23.

Glynn, 38, who was Detroit chairman for Michigan Week last year, is director of public relations for the National Bank of Detroit. He has served for a number of years as public relations director for United Funds in Dayton and Lima, Ohio. Glynn was also a radio and television newsman with WAKR in Akron, Ohio.

His community activities include public relations chairman for the Metropolitan Girl Scout Council of Detroit and the general committee of the NAACP 1970 Freedom Fund Dinner.

Hinch is director of government and community relations for Chrysler Corporation.

Humphrey In Georgia

Hardboards Help Amateur To Do 'Professional' Job

Most people have a desire to demonstrate their talents as amateur handicrafters.

There are unlimited kinds of furniture, storage and household projects for the do-it-yourselfer.

Hardboards, which come in convenient-size panels or can be easily cut and shaped, are ideal materials for many such jobs. The panels have no knots, grain or soft spots, and won't crack or splinter. A wood product, made from chips and fibers, hardboards are dense, durable, and tough. They are easily worked with ordinary carpentry tools, and are available plain to decorate or with factory-prefinished surfaces. Many types are moisture-resistant.

For real satisfaction, however, the "amateur" job must look "professional". When paneling a wall, for instance, amateurs may have problems with corners and floor or ceiling junctures. Ready-made accessories, available with hardboard paneling, simplify the job.

There are vinyl-clad moldings to match woodgrains and other finishes. Prefinished metal moldings are particularly helpful in getting that "tight to the corner" or "flat to the wall" effect. Vinyl-clad moldings automatically adjust to fit most panel thicknesses. Other accessories include: color-matched nails to eliminate countersinking; and waterproof, cartridge adhesive for nail-less application.

For more information on the uses and application of hardboards, send 25 cents to the American Hardboard Association, 20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60606, for the brochure, "New Dimensions in Living".

Guards Posted At Child Center

Due to a growing number of incidents, 24-hour guards will be stationed at the Wayne County shelter for neglected children under plans approved tentatively by the County Board of Supervisors.

Employment of five institutional guards to protect the center was recommended by the supervisors juvenile affairs committee after it investigated complaints by employees of the D. J. Healy Children's Center, which is located in Patton Park on Detroit's west side. The center provides temporary housing for about sixty neglected children.

A petition submitted by the employees complained of an increasing number of incidents involving persons trespassing on the center grounds.

Hiring of the guards received preliminary approval by the Board of Supervisors, meeting as the ways and means committee, March 12.

Members of the juvenile affairs committee are:

Jerome A. Szymanski, of Detroit, D-District 6, chairman; William L. Dunbar, Detroit, D-District 10, vice chairman; N. Frank Cylkowski, Detroit, D-District

16; John H. Shepherd, Detroit, D-District 12; Philip A. Tannian, Detroit, D-District 15; Frederick Yates, Detroit, D-District 9; and Joseph F. Young, Detroit, D-District 4.

Members of the planning and capital improvement committee are, in addition to Lesinski: Edmund Bizek, Romulus, D-District 24, chairman; James DeSana, Wyandotte, D-District 23;

Rudy Hickey, Ecorse, D-District 18; Jerome A. Szymanski, Detroit, D-District 6; Frederick Yates, Detroit, D-District 9; and William R. Bryant, Jr., Grosse Pointe Farms, R-District 3.

Spokesman Hits Federal Reserve

Spokesmen for Detroit area home and apartment builders joined thousands of others across the country today in urging drastic changes in policies of the Federal Reserve System to make it more responsive to the nation's housing needs.

Speaking for the 800-member Builders Association of Metropolitan Detroit, Lester S. Burton, president of the home-builders' group, one of the country's largest, said it was time that Congress stepped in and corrected some of Fed's practices which have tended to aggravate the housing shortage here and elsewhere across the country.

Burton pointed out that the Federal Reserve System is the backbone of the country's financial system. He urged that statutes be amended to make it clear that one purpose of Fed is to assure a stable residential mortgage market with adequate funds to meet the nation's housing needs.

He said that a bill introduced by Senator Wright Patman of Texas would restructure the system and bring it directly under control of the President and Congress.

Another bill pending in Congress, introduced by Rep. Lenore Sullivan of Missouri would establish a Home Owners Mortgage Loan Corporation to be financed by appropriations up to $2 billions a year for five years. Burton endorsed that legislation also.

Following the philosophy of the Golden Age of Greece, the Annual Child Art Competition, sponsored by the Detroit Central Business District Association, (CBDA) will have the theme that art is inseparable from daily living and is embodied in the harmony and order of that life.

The competition, opened to children between five and twelve years of age, is based on a "Child's Love and Pride" in his family, friends, neighborhood, community or city.

Entries of watercolors, crayons, paints, oils, and pencil drawings will be accepted from March 15 to May 30. For proper exhibition, art should be mounted on cardboard or poster board and include a label should include name, address, school, age, phone number and teacher's name.

Since CBDA sends children's art from this area around the world, no entries will be returned.

John J. Felman, chairman of the event, has announced the following prizes: first prize, $200 U.S. Savings Bond; second prize, $100 U.S. Savings Bond, and third prize, $50 U.S. Savings Bond. In addition the top winner in every age group will receive $10 and second place winner, $5.

During July the exhibits will be on display at several Detroit banks and stores. Winners will be announced August 5.

U-M Dearborn Awards Degrees

Today's college graduates must recognize the difference between evolution and anarchy in their attempts to improve the world, Dr. Paul Chenea, Vice President of General Motors Research Laboratories, told winter graduates of the University of Michigan, Dearborn Campus recently.

Speaking at commencement exercises in the Ford Motor Company's Central Office Building, Dr. Chenea challenged the 93 UM-D graduates to develop self-discipline in addition to their continuing search for knowledge and truth.

As poor as the world may seem today, man has in this century attained the highest standard of living, better health and more freedom than ever before. It is the college graduate's task to build upon this foundation, said the GM executive.

Among the Dearborn Campus February graduates are, from Garden City: Douglas J. Peters, 5650 Helen, bachelor's of science engineering (electrical); Richard M. Johnson, 7024 Cardwell, bachelor's of science engineering (mechanical); Alan L. Smith, 29204 Alvin, master's of science engineering (mechanical).

From Plymouth, David L. Guertin, 41611 Greenbrier received a master's of science engineering degree (mechanical).

Raymond S. Royan, 793 Patterson, Inkster, earned a bachelor's of business administration degree.

From Livonia: Michael D. Belonga, 31345 Morlack, bachelor's of business administration; Thomas G. Gorton, 14176 Ellen Dr., master's of science engineering (mechanical); Vivian D. Powless, 29856 Linda, bachelor's of arts (history); and Rita K. Steven, 33287 Myrna Ct., bachelor's of arts (sociology).

From Westland: Jack E. Bruckman, Jr., 31445 Conway Dr., bachelor's of science engineering (mechanical) honors of high distinction; Stephen M. Conway, 30384 W. Warren, bachelor's of business administration; Mary Ann Geil, 32737 Comanche Dr., bachelor's of business administration; Michael E. Kilpinen, 6747 N. Wayne Rd., master's of science engineering (mechanical); and Russell M. Vente, 7684 Merriman, bachelor's of science engineering (electrical), honors of distinction.

Camp Fire Girls Honored At Mass

The Detroit Archdiocesan Committee for Camp Fire Girls will hold its annual anniversary celebration at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Blessed Sacrament Cathedral.

Father Edward F. Haggerty, archdiocesan chaplain, will celebrate a special mass in honor of the anniversary of the founding of the movement in the United States. He will also present certificates of public recognition to those Camp Fire Girls who have earned the Marian Medal during the past year.

Another facet of the program will be the presentation of the St. Anne Medal to Camp Fire Girls leaders who have made an outstanding contribution to the spiritual welfare of girls in the Camp Fire Program.

These are meaningful ceremonies. The Marian Medal is the highest award a Camp Fire Girl can merit through consistent advancement in a mastery of the arts of the Camp Fire program, together with a parallel growth in the knowledge and practice of the Catholic religion.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

A group from Immaculate Heart of Mary will provide singing and guitar music for the mass. A group from St. Bartholomew's will conduct the flag ceremony.

TRI CITY TASTE TESTERS-Going over the menu for Saturday's tri-city legislative dinner are George Noble, manager of the new Garrison House, and the Executive secretaries of the Garden City, Wayne and Westland Chambers of Commerce. The trio of smiling ladies includes, from left, Jo Ann Neumann of Garden City, Lela Garr of Wayne and Westland's Harriet Gagnon.

Face-to-Face Meeting Set For Legislators, Residents

BY JIM BRADLEY
GARDEN CITY — The Chambers of Commerce of Garden City, Wayne and Westland, urged area residents this week to attend the tri-city legislative dinner Saturday night and meet face to face with their legislators.

"We want to make it crystal clear that this is not a political meeting, but a social gathering where interested citizens can come and discuss with their representatives the problems we all face," Co-ordinator Joseph Benyo stressed.

"Sen. Phil Hart is flying in especially to speak to the dinner, but we will have plenty of time afterward for citizens to chat with their mayor, city councilmen and other elected officials," Benyo added.

The dinner is planned for 7 p.m. this Saturday night at the new Garrison House on Cherry Hill Rd., one block east of Venoy Rd., in Garden City.

A cocktail hour will begin at 6 p.m., followed by Sen. Hart's speech and a buffet dinner during which local people can speak with their city's officials.

Other legislators invited to the affair include Gov. William Milliken, Sen. Robert P. Griffin, U.S. Rep. Martha Griffiths, U.S. Congressman William D. Ford, who will introduce Hart, State Senator William Faust and State Reps. James Tierney Richard Young and Vincent Petitpren.

Garden City Mayor Timothy Murphy, Wayne Mayor Kenneth McKay, Westland Mayor Eugene McKinney, Councilmen of the three cities as well as Wayne County Supervisors Ralph Turco and Edmund Bizak have indicated they would attend.

"It is hoped the dinner will also attract many interested businessmen and their wives," Benyo added.

"Not enough of our businessmen know their legislators and our committee feels this tri-city dinner is one way to get them together."

The committee arranging the dinner includes Jo Ann Neumann, executive secretary of Garden City Chamber; William Zugowich of Garden City; Lela Carr, executive secretary of Wayne Chamber; Jack Demmer of Wayne; Harriet Gagnon, executive secretary of Westland Chamber and Benyo, first vice-president of the Westland Chamber.

"We hope interest persons from all surrounding communities will feel free to come and take an active part in meeting with the legislators and discussing problems common to all," Benyo concluded.

Chamber officials urge everyone to make reservations early. Tickets may be obtained at any of the three chamber offices for $5 per person.

CYO Is Accepting Camp Applications

Applications are now being accepted for the CYO summer camps on the shores of Lake Huron near Port Sanilac.

The CYO conducts two modern, well equipped camps — one for girls and the other for boys — in idyllic woodland settings. The girls camp is four miles north of Port Sanilac, and the boys camp is four miles south.

The complete cost for 13 days in camp, 200-mile round-trip transportation and camper accident insurance is $75 per person. A $20 deposit must accompany each application.

Eligible for the camps are youngsters from eight through 14 years of age. (The eight year olds must be nine by December 31.) Those who are at least 13 years of age and entering the ninth or tenth grade, may enroll for the special Pioneer units, which are set apart from the rest of the camp.

Experienced counselors head staffs of college counselors and specialists in each camp, with one counselor for every eight campers. Each camp has a full-time registered nurse, experienced cooks, a visiting chaplain and a physician on call at all times.

Applications—and further information—may be obtained now from the CYO office, 305 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, 48226, Telephone 963-7172.

RECEIVES HONOR-State Rep. Vincent J. Petitpren (D-37th District) received a professional certificate of appreciation from the Michigan Personnel and Guidance Association recently in ceremonies held at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. The award was presented to Petitpren (left) by MPGA president Paul Bader, for Petitpren's service on "behalf of counselor certification in Michigan," by aiding in passage of a bill to certify counselors in Michigan.

'Next Thing I Knew, I Was Having A Baby'

BY MARILYN PARKER

Having a baby can be a tense affair. The father paces the waiting room floor waiting to pass out cigars. The grandparents wait anxiously on the other end of a long distance phone call to hear the thrilling news. And the mother usually waits and waits and waits.

However, Mrs. Janice Legghio didn't have time to wait last Monday night when her second son was born in the rear compartment of a Delta jet speeding from Miami to Detroit.

The baby, who was born two weeks early, weighed seven pounds five ounces and has been named Natalino Delta.

"We had to get Delta in there somewhere," Mrs. Legghio said.

Mrs. Legghio left her husband, Mark, at the Miami Airport Monday night, hoping to meet him at his sister's home at 12375 Camden, Livonia, a few days later.

As the baby was being born, Mark was heading for Livonia in the family Volkswagen, moving all the family's possessions by trailer to the home of Mrs. Carol Moore. He wasn't expected in Livonia until Wednesday and he didn't know he had become a father again.

He didn't find out until he arrived in town late Wednesday.

Mrs. Legghio, 22, and her son, Tony, 3, boarded Delta Flight 86 from Miami to Detroit after eight months in Pompano Beach.

She said she felt fine when she got on the plane but the next thing she knew she was having a baby.

The baby was delivered by Delta stewardess Peggy Gardner and flight engineer Sam Barazzone. Delivery time was 12:02 a.m.

Miss Gardner said the passengers and staff were nervous but that everything went like clockwork.

She said when the captain announced, "We have a boy," all the passengers applauded.

Shortly after the baby was born, the plane made a special landing in Atlanta and mother and second son were rushed to Fulton County Hospital. The pair attempted another flight Thursday and arrived home in Livonia, much to the surprise of the husband and father.

Young Tony continued on to Detroit Monday night and was cared for by Miss Gardner.

The Legghios and their 'air-born' son are currently staying with the Moore's until they find a house in Livonia.

School Millages Needed In Wayne, Van Buren

Supporting education has become a very real burden in Western Wayne County. Money to run schools no longer comes easily. Taxes never go down. Costs always go up.

The Wayne Community School District is seeking a renewal of 21 mills for operation. The renewal does not amount to an increase in the tax rate, although residents of the district may well pay more in taxes next year than they did this year.

In the Van Buren School District, voters must decide a six-mill renewal that will mean continuing current programs, or making large cutbacks in the coming year.

In Van Buren, as in Wayne, the taxes will go up next year if current tax rates stay the same. The reason for the increase is the equalization of all property so that assessments continue to meet the state requirement of being based on 50 percent of market value.

If real estate values continue to rise, as they almost certainly will in the next year, equalization will automatically increase assessments on all properties to stay even with the increase in values.

A house assessed at $10,000 this year, may be assessed at $11,000 next year, if the equalization factor is 10 percent. It might be more or less, but will almost certainly represent an increase in taxes for all property taxpayers.

School districts will gain some dollars because of the increase in assessments on all property. Some voters believe this increase is enough to justify decreasing the tax rate. This is not true, however.

Each time school districts gain tax dollars because of increased assessments, the state aid formula that dispenses tax dollars from the state of Michigan begins to work in reverse.

When property tax revenues go up, state aid allotments go down, even if school districts actually gain a small amount each year. That is the way the state aid formula works.

The cost of education is, of course, rising like all other costs, and perhaps faster than most. Teachers must be paid and programs must be financed in an inflationary economy. More dollars are needed each year to buy the same teachers and the same programs.

The renewal of 21 mills in the Wayne Community School District and six mills in the Van Buren School District is important to the continued excellence of education in these districts.

We wish the renewals were both for one year only. That would seem to be the most equitable way to tax residents hopeful of some legislative assistance this year.

At any rate, the millage is needed for the sake of the youngsters who attend Wayne and Van Buren schools.

We urge every voter in both districts to vote 'Yes' next week to renew vitally needed millage for education.

A New Direction In Police Relations

There is one story in the field of police-community relations that hasn't been told.

It isn't a story about police troubles, like those told in Westland, Plymouth, Livonia and Inkster in recent months, but a real success story.

It's happening in Westland, where a new group of citizens appointed by Mayor Gene McKinney is finding some answers to the problems involved in attracting capable young men and women to pursue careers in police work.

The Task Force To Recruit Police, as it is known, could have been no more than an advertising agency for the Westland Police Department. It has become, through the efforts of the citizens who participate, a forum for understanding of police and community attitudes toward police work that affect the success policemen can expect in their careers.

By identifying the problems through discussion, the task force is hopeful of answering some of the questions that plague all area police departments: Why don't more men apply to become policemen? What kind of man is best qualified and most needed? What areas of police work need the most attention?

The task force hopes that the study it is now undertaking will eventually result in some constructive suggestions for the improvement of the police-community relations in Westland.

Represented on the committee are whites and blacks, policemen and lay persons, men and women. The goal is to bring every kind of opinion before the task force so that an honest appraisal of the situation can be made.

The news has been unfortunately negative every time the topic of police-community relations has been raised.

Perhaps the kind of effort being made in Westland is a good, refreshing new direction in western Wayne County. It is a new direction to be admired and followed.

In This Corner

Up From The Ranks

By Dick McKnight

If politics were water, Paul Tavana would be a fish.

While that might not be the most attractive way to describe the newest Westland city councilman, it's about as accurate a statement as can be made about Paul Tavana.

Anyone who saw him trudging from house to house in Westland last summer, nailing up 'McKinney for Mayor' signs in front yards would never have guessed that Tavana was headed for a seat on the city council.

But the same tenacity and hard work that saw him through the most unattractive of all political tasks last summer has also earned Tavana the job he doggedly sought for years.

In pursuing some old issues of the Westland Eagle in preparation for this column, I came across some really old (which means before my time) copies in which Tavana was mentioned prominently in the editorial columns of a former Eagle editor, now employed in the City of Westland.

In referring to Tavana, the column described him as a source of all political information and the only person "who perhaps never stops thinking about politics."

Although I never developed the same rapport with Paul Tavana, I can imagine that he was an enterprising editor's dream.

Since that all happened about five years ago, Tavana's apprenticeship in politics has been honorably completed. He spent an inordinate amount of time in training for his role as councilman, and to him it is a job as well as an honor.

Like the hardheaded sergeant who is at last made an officer, he will have to be forgiven if he still sounds like a sergeant from time to time. Besides having developed good lung power as the father of eight children, Tavana is not known for keeping his feelings to himself.

Four years ago, when he and I found ourselves on the opposite sides of a school millage issue, I got my first taste of a Tavana tongue-lashing. While he didn't change my mind, I knew then I had not heard the last of Paul Tavana.

Westland ought to wish Paul Tavana well in his new job as councilman. I don't know any councilman who cares more about doing a really good job.

A Word Fully Spoken

Voting 'No' Is Too Easy

By James Bradley

Wayne Community School District voters will go to the polls on Monday, March 23, to decide whether to continue a 21 mill levy which expires this year.

To a tax-weary public, this seems like a very good time to "look the other way" and cast a quick "no" vote, hoping against hope our legislators in Lansing will bail them out with some kind of school finance reform.

But is it really the smart thing to do? Everytime a voter enters the booth in a school millage election, he must stop and think of the thousands of children involved.

Then he must weigh in his conscience whether casting a "no" vote is just not an easy way of shirking his duty.

No one wants more taxes, that's for sure. No one even, necessarily, wants to continue to be taxed at the present rate (as in this case).

This is a millage renewal, which simply means that Wayne School residents will be paying the same rate to continue the same high level of education their children are getting.

In School Supt. Harry Howard, the system has a dedicated man who is doing a fine job. Some say he is a powerful figure who needs to have things done his way. Others disagree.

But the question arises: "Can a weak man lead a school district system whose total budget is more than all the combined municipalities in the area it serves?"

In addition to Howard, the district has many other fine leaders and a school board that is second to none in dedication. Meeting after meeting I have sat and listened to these representatives of the public, the school board, discuss matters that were seemingly insignificant.

But they weren't. The seven citizens on the board really care how the public's money is spent, whether it be for a group of $50 items or a $250,000 school addition.

Some say the school system is "overburdened" with administration. But this is not true.

According to the National Cost of Education Index, the national average cost of administration for schools was 3.9 per cent of the budget. Wayne's was only 3.05 per cent.

The national average was $22.61 per pupil for administrative costs, while Wayne's was $24.29.

The Index said schools needed a 7 per cent increase this year to remain at the same level of operation.

Wayne Schools are among the best in the nation, not only educationally, but administratively, in maintenance and every other way.

Because Wayne Schools have done such a good job, they deserve and should get our unqualified support.

To have the voters do less than this, in my opinion, would be a great mistake. It would educationally ripple our children at a time when they need all the training they can get.

Lift Up Your Head

Living On A Sick Planet

By Rosemary Wolock

It's just not a human way to live.

That's what I said to a passenger in my car recently as we threaded our way through a rush hour snarl.

Somehow it seems to me that man was made for something better than asphalt jungles, concrete canyons and a dangerously polluted environment.

As a child I thought it was simply amazing to watch the black smoke roll out of a factory smokestack. But when I stopped for lunch in the Salina section of Dearborn, a couple of years ago, and found my car covered with a coating of industrial dust after that short visit, it wasn't so marvelous any more.

As a child I thoroughly enjoyed my visits to Rouge Park, even though the Rouge River was a sickly brown. But when I have to pick my way through the dead fish along lake Huron, it isn't so enjoyable any more.

As a child I loved the city with its ethnic neighborhoods, the old homes and churches, visiting the Farmer's Market early on a Saturday morning. But now I am sickened by the realization that the city is rotting from the inside out and very little is being done about it.

There are two attitudes we have that contribute to these sad situations. One is the obsession that we have with newness. In other cultures there is a respect for the old, whether its people, buildings or traditions.

Not here. Everyone wants a flashy new car, new appliances, new homes, new clothes. If you don't already have the 1970 model whatever, you are out of it. There is very little respect for the old homes that have a lot more character and decorating possibilities than a brand new one.

The other attitude is the one that urban man has toward his environment. Urban man seems to feel that he must conquer the earth by digging up trees and flowers and replacing them with asphalt, concrete and a few potted shrubs.

Man has adapted his "use it up and throw it away" philosophy to the earth. The only problem is that it's the only earth we have. Of course, there's Mars, but if this planet sickens and dies I won't want to count on catching a ship to Mars.

I hope we can change these attitudes before it's too late. Or is it too late already?

Ford, Hines Shine In 'I Do'

By HOWARD ALLEN
Amusement Critic

Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt musicals seem to grow on you, becoming more attractive with each viewing, vis "Fantastick." Their bright "I Do! I Do!" here last week as part of the University of Michigan Professional Theatre Program's play of the month series, falls in that category too.

"I Do," when seen the first time seemed merely a star vehicle for Mary Martin and Robert Preston, and with stars like that, why not. But it wore well when Gordon MacRae and Carol Lawrence tried it out and it still held up last week for Phil Ford and Mimi Hines.

In fact, out of the Preston-Martin aura, it is developing subtle charms of its own. Nobody has a better sense of delicacy than Jones and Schmidt and their adaption of "The Fourposter," the two-character piece which views a marriage over 50 years from one bedroom is nostalgic and affectionate.

The Ford-Hines interpretation is far cover than the two previous versions, certainly Ford and Hines are more adept at mugging than Martin and Preston or MacRae and Lawrence. But Mimi Hines does have the talent to sell a song, now always apparent in her club act, and the current staging never degenerates into farce.

The Ice Capades, in its 30th anniversary edition reflects nostalgically back over three decades, pointing up how much the show has evolved. More than either of the other ice shows, "Ice Capades" has sought innovations and looked for the gimmick and the result, seen this week at Olympia, reveals a startling contrast.

The finale, "The American Girl," is something ice shows have been doing for 30 years and they stole the concept directly from Flo Ziegfeld and cohorts who splashed this sort of opulence all over the stage constantly. The number is colorful and filled with every anticipated effect from weird costumes to rising girl-bedecked pillars and lights.

And then there's "Love, Love, Love and More Love," which takes the flashing lights, a crazy-quilt screen, a driving rock beat and mod costumes to turn out a psychedelic trip about as subtle as an overdose of LSD.

The gimmicky "magic screen" is also back for another Tommy Litz spy parody too.

Ice buffs will probably wonder at the almost complete shakeup in talent this year. Gone is the world's best ice comic, Freddie Trenkler, top billed Romayne and Steel, the Jelineks and most of the other familiar names. In their place are newcomers Linda Carbonetto, Margot and Danne, Wolfgang Schwarz and several more newcomers. Normal ice personnel evolution has become revolution.

Still, the production values are solid, so the entertainment remains. The conviction grows in these days of X movies and nude plays and acid-rock concerts that ice shows are about the only family entertainment left.

The best special effects seen since "2001: Space Odyssey" are currently on display in "Marooned," now at the Quo Vadis, relating the harrowing efforts to rescue a space team drifting in space in a non-functioning capsule whose oxygen supply is rapidly running out.

If nothing else, "Marooned" points out how fast the space picture is changing. It was written only a few years back, yet it was before the moon shot and Another magnificent change, which says something hopeful about the world-I hope-is that the book shot a Russian rescue team into space, with the Americans in competition to reach the doomed astronauts first since a Red rescue would be rather, well, un-American. Today's audiences would laugh at that sort of nationalism.

A quasi-documentary start does not appreciably detract from a well-keyed sense of growing suspense. Gregory Peck heads the space mission, while the doomed astronauts are Richard Crenna, James Franciscus and Gene Hackman, David Janssen goes up to get them.

Despite a few cliches-like the hopeful wives, blinking back tears-"Marooned" is a lean and well-tempered picture and highly recommended.

TIN SOLDIER SET

Performance in the Art Institute theater are 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Before and after each show youngsters will enjoy the Lobby Shop which features a display of hand puppets and marionettes from around the world.

Stevenson Success Shows Education Pays

TO THE EDITOR:

We would like to congratulate the Stevenson Jr. High School Concert Band and their director, Mr. Puchalski, who came away with a Blue Ribbon and No. 1 rating at the District Band Festival held on Saturday. Certainly every parent in the Wayne Community School District can feel pride in their accomplishment — for they are representative of us all.

Those who oppose school millage usually label this activity as "frills", but in how many ways, other than music and sports, are we given the opportunity to show others in the state our "true grit?"

Educating our children today means more than just teaching the three Rs. Their horizons are unlimited, so how can we do less than support and inspire our young people toward the goals of decency, self-respect and achievement — and if a Blue Ribbon is the result — so much the better!

MR. and MRS. JACK MALANEY

Resident Asks Brown's Church Activities

TO THE EDITOR:

May I through your newspaper address an open letter to Mr. Jerry Brown, candidate for council.

Dear Mr. Brown:

The resume of your educational, governmental and community affairs as shown on some of your campaign literature states that you are a member of Newburgh United Methodist Church. This is important to me as a voter, since politics needs the influence of a faithful, conscientious church member.

I, too, have been a member of Newburgh Church for three years, but have not had the pleasure of seeing or meeting you there.

Since church activities can be indicative of a person's performance in civic affairs and government, would you please relate your background at Newburgh Church.

Ch. Jemoel's Zarinda von Warlock, a six-year-old Doberman Pinscher owned by Andy and Elaine Komorny of Westland, is not content to rest on her laurels just yet. Although she finished her championship long ago and has produced two large litters (11 puppies the first time, 10 the second), Zindy recently made her debut in the obedience ring, completing the first leg toward her Companion Dog (C.D.) degree with a score of 187 at the Detroit Kennel Club show on March 8.

Reblyn's Impressive Shammie, a Weimaraner owned and handled by Eleanor Burmeister of Livonia, completed the requirements for her AKC championship by going Winners Bitch at the DKC show.

Rene and Ilene DeLaere of Livonia are the proud owners of Irish Setter Lady Erin of Whispering Pines, who completed the final leg toward her C.D. degree at the DKC obedience trial at Cobo Hall with a score of 188. Lady has already begun utility training in her classes with the Wolverine Dog Training Club and is expected to begin work on her C.D.X. degree soon.

Tamarac's Break-A-Way, a Giant Schnauzer owned by J. E. Tibus of Livonia, was Best of Breed at the Detroit Kennel Club show.

Ch. Sequani's Dana MacDuff, a Brittany Spaniel owned by Mrs. Frederick Murphy and Mrs. David Rigoulot of Livonia, was Best of Breed at the DKC show.

Parochial Backers Should Examine Consequences

TO THE EDITOR:

In view of fact that many of our radio, TV stations, and newspapers have gone all out, once again to attract the attention of the parochial sympathizers I hope to be given a chance in your paper to ask some of these parochial backers a few questions, in the event parochial becomes a reality, would you be willing to:

- Strip your classrooms of all items religious?
- Stop all forms of prayer in your schools?
- Hold any and all religious classes after school hours?
- Open all your books and give an account of finances?
- Agree to separate your schools from your churches?

And the most important question of all:

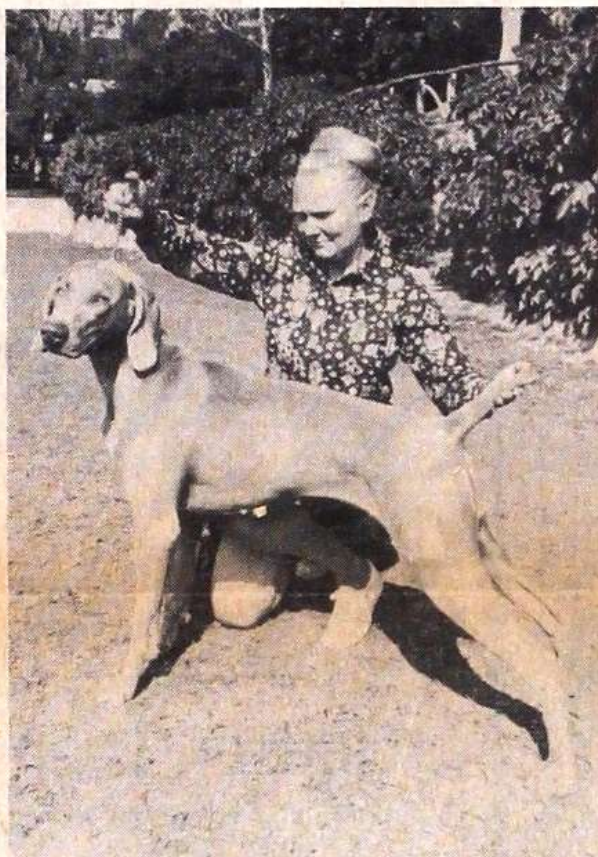

1. Would your overseers be willing to do our public administrators have and allow me, and others to evaluate any materials?

2. Would you allow us, as our public administrators have, to attend your board meetings and have a say?

3. Would you allow me to be a part of your P.T.A. and have a voice, even though my children do not attend your school?

If your answer is no, to any of these questions, then it would appear that you do not want equal education, but superior education. If any of your answers would be no, then you would be putting me in a position to say that my children would be discriminated against.

You see, my children are not allowed to pray in school, My children are not allowed to learn of Christ in school, My children are not allowed to learn of the Bible in school, they have to keep their religion apart from their curriculum.

NEW CHAMP—Reblyn's Impressive Shammie, a Weimaraner female, completed AKC championship requirements at the Detroit Kennel Club Show recently. Shown handling the bitch is Mrs. Eleanor Burmeister of Livonia, the owner.

I don't want my children to be taught these things in school because our religious beliefs are too important to us to be taught by someone that we know nothing about. I am willing to make the effort, and take the time to teach my children myself. I am willing also to pay, if necessary, without your help. I am grateful to live in a country where secular schools are allowed, but I do not desire to pay for them.

If Parochial does become a reality, you may be in for a surprise, you may not realize it but you will be in a position where your state will have control of your schools, and I as a taxpayer, will have a say as to what is being taught, by whom, and how. Otherwise, it would be taxation without presentation.

Think it over my friends, when you ask for tax-payers money, you are also asking for tax-payers involvement. Certainly you wouldn't expect to maintain your schools on the present setup, and expect anyone other than yourselves to pay for it. Ask our public administrators, they will tell you, that it is not an easy thing to try to please the public, ask our public relations man, he'll tell you.

We have a fine school system, a public system that will see to it that there is room for your child. It is your own choice, you send your children to your own schools for only one reason, their religious training. So you should be willing to pay for it. Education IS available for your children, the same as mine. If education is what you are concerned about, then you shouldn't mind abiding by the same standards as that of the public schools.

You are on the road to destroying your own system, it may not happen immediately, but in due time your schools will become just more public schools. —Is this what you want?

Local Auto Dealer Blasts School District's Tactics

TO THE EDITOR:

Why?

The Ed Carpenter Sales, Inc., Dodge Dealer, 33640 Michigan Ave., Wayne, Michigan and Carpenter Truck Center, Inc., 3850 Howe Road., Wayne, Michigan would like to know why the Wayne school board and school district should ask for an approval on millage for this school district, when at the same time, they throw away $600.00 for three new chassis for school buses by paying this amount more than could be bought in Wayne, instead of going out of our School District to purchase from a dealer in Romulus School District.

There are several dealers in the Wayne Community School District that paid thousands of dollars in school taxes. We feel that they should be favored if they are the low bidders.

We met all of their specifications according to specification sheet.

Some of the weak excuses were, parts availability; of which we have over $340,000.00 in truck parts across the street at 3850 Howe Rd. from the school garage.

We met horsepower according to their requirements and they have no experience with Dodge, which has one of the best guarantee on record, for 50,000 miles on motor, transmission and rear end.

I feel it is time the taxpayers pay attention to where our dollars are being spent.

Councilman Urges Passage Of Millage

TO THE EDITOR:

Why is March 23 such an important date for the Wayne Community School District?

The answer is simple—the District needs very much a renewal of its 21-mill levy.

It is important to note that the District is not asking for a 21-mill increase. The District is only asking for a 21-mill renewal.

True, our Legislators and Governor have failed us. Equally true our Federal government is only interested in increasing the unemployment rate.

But what of those who are to follow us?

What of our children?

We have invested millions of dollars in plant and equipment. Would it not be simply foolish to let that capital investment stand idle because we would not support what we have already constructed?

Vote to sustain the existing 21 mills-vote to show some confidence in our future—and in the name of sanity vote to continue our school system as one of the best school systems in the State of Michigan.

Be proud of your children and your school system-vote yes for the 21-mill renewal on March 23.

Overtaxed Reader Fights Millage Hike

TO THE EDITOR:

Where do we go from here?

We've been taxed and over-taxed by our school board over the past decade.

May I comment on some solutions:

1. Must we have carpeted classrooms, air-conditioned offices and schools, various electric machines vs mental aptitude, swimming pools etc., rather than essentials?

2. Teachers working 9 months and being paid an annual rate vs the average property owner in the area who works 11 to 12 months annually?

3. Vacant school buildings 3 months of the year vs successful businesses who must operate 12 months — why can't we modernize the attendance months and hours and utilize the buildings all year? This way two classes would be held daily on a year round basis and the children would receive the same amount of class hours.

Let's modernize the entire system rather than put so many millage votes to an over-taxed area already.

Wayne Community now ranks as one of the highest taxed districts in the State.

Let's all vote on March 23, but let's consider voting NO on the continuation of the expiring 21 mills.

Church News Aided Dedication Ceremonies

TO THE EDITOR:

Just a word of thanks for the wonderful way your paper responded to our plea for help in advertising and publicizing the dedication of our community services building.

This makes us feel as though this is truly a community newspaper. We are anticipating a capacity crowd nightly, and if so, we will know you played a big part in making it possible.
